About this event

Are you an undergraduate student or junior doctor with an interest in urology? This one-day training course will provide an insight into urology as a potential career choice, with key lectures from internationally renowned consultant surgeons and workshops providing unique access to skills equipment.

This meeting will help you to:

- Explore urology as a career, providing an insight into the working life of a urologist
- Discover and expand on the various sub-specialties within urology
- Improve your practical skills with workshops on suturing, cystoscopy, stent/ureteroscopy, laparoscopy and suprapubic catheterisation
- Build your CV

Call for posters

Medical students and foundation doctors are invited to submit an abstract no more than 250 words relating to the subject of urology.

Successful applicants will be selected to showcase their poster at this meeting for the chance to win the prize.

Prize: 12-month free print and online subscription to the Journal of Clinical Urology and certificate

Submission deadline: Sunday 8 December 2019

Open to: Medical students and doctors not yet in core or specialist training
