

Leading the way in non-clinical skills training

Our comprehensive non-clinical skills training programme enables healthcare professionals to develop skills in teaching and education, leadership and management, and professional competencies.

To provide necessary flexibility to potential participants at our non-clinical skills courses, we have restructured the course content to enable remote delivery and participation.

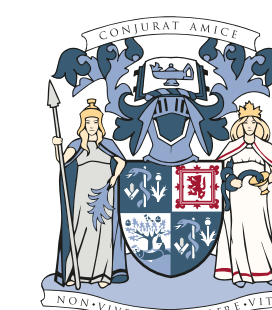

TRAINING

LEADERSHIP

MENTORSHIP

MANAGEMENT

TEACHING

ROYAL COLLEGE OF
PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS OF GLASGOW

Non-clinical skills training

For booking visit
rcp.sg/nonclinical

Join our community today
visit rcp.sg/join

#RCPSGNonClinical

ONLINE COURSE

Royal College Advanced Certificate in Clinical Education

14 September to 28 September 2021, 16 November to 30 November 2021

The Royal College Advanced Certificate in Clinical Education covers all essential trainer prerequisites and provides learning opportunities specifically tailored to meet the needs of experienced trainers. The course focuses on enabling delegates to relate and constructively apply relevant educational theory to their ongoing clinical education practice.

The course covers all aspects of the GMC 2016 guideline competency framework and may be recognised as leading to the award of up to 10 credits towards further study on the University of Dundee's Certificate/Diploma/Master of Medical Education (MMEd programme).

ONLINE COURSE

Training the Clinical Trainer

16 September to 1 October 2021, 2 December to 16 December 2021,
26 January to 10 February 2022

This course aims to enhance your knowledge of, and skills in, educational practice within a clinical setting. Designed for senior trainees across all specialties and mapped to CCT requirements, it will provide attendees with knowledge and skills to meet the criteria set out in the GMC's recognition and approval of trainers requirements. It introduces participants to some of the key theoretical frameworks that underpin contemporary educational practice and demonstrates how these may be applied constructively and flexibly in clinical teaching. By highlighting the benefits of reflective practice and of sharing and developing good practice with colleagues, it will contribute to the continuing professional development of clinicians with training responsibilities.

Non-clinical skills training

For booking visit
rcp.sg/nonclinical

Join our community today
visit rcp.sg/join

#RCPSGNonClinical

ONLINE COURSE

Developing the Clinical Trainer

7 September to 22 September 2021, 17 January to 1 February 2022

This course will provide foundation doctors and medical students with an overview of teaching, learning and feedback in the clinical environment. Participants will be given the opportunity to create a detailed plan for a short teaching session related to their clinical practice, and will receive written feedback on this for their portfolios. The programme is mapped to the foundation curriculum: after completion of the course you will have evidence that you have designed a teaching activity and received feedback to support your ongoing practice.

ONLINE COURSE

Research Requirements for Surgeons

This brand new course aims to address these requirements and cover an introduction to some of these complex topics as well as a focus on common pitfalls. Topics covered include critical appraisal, collaborative research, Ethics & Governance, paper review methods and statistics. Delivered by subject experts in the field and delivered online with supporting LIVE sessions.

This course is a collaboration with Women in Surgery Scotland.

Non-clinical skills training

For booking visit
rcp.sg/nonclinical

---

Join our community today
visit rcp.sg/join

---

#RCPSGNonClinical

ONLINE COURSE

Clinical Learning Environment

12 October to 15 October 2021, 8 March to 11 March 2022

This online course aims to develop participants' understanding of current thinking on learning in the workplace and focuses directly on the nature and distinctive characteristics of the clinical learning environment. Drawing on relevant theoretical perspectives on situated and active learning, it will ask participants to reflect on their own experiences as learners and/or trainers. It will then enable them to identify ways in which the learning environment can be enhanced to maximize the positive outcomes of each learning experience for all those involved, and will contribute to their continuing professional development as trainers.

ONLINE COURSE

Clinical Trainer Development: An Update

The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow Clinical Trainer Development Course will provide you with learning and teaching skills, communication, coaching and dealing with difficult students. With a focus on supporting the training and professional development of trainers specifically this course is designed for those holding a named trainer role in secondary care. It will also be useful for those new to educational supervision. Covering many key supervision principles in the context of an educational and clinical environment, including leadership styles, leading teams and mentoring, this course will provide you with skills to support your trainees. Delivered by professional clinical leadership and management experts and senior clinicians, this online course will provide you with enhanced skills for delivering education and training.

Non-clinical skills training

For booking visit
rcp.sg/nonclinical

Join our community today
visit rcp.sg/join

#RCPSGNonClinical

ONLINE COURSE

Practical Advice for New Consultants

9 September to 14 September 2021

This series of 2 evening webinars will guide newly appointed consultants, or those who are about to be appointed, through the major issues they will encounter in the first years following appointment.

The programme will give special attention to those areas not discussed in postgraduate or specialty training.

ONLINE CONFERENCE

Released Back into Mortality: Intensive care, Patients and the Law

11 June 2021

The afternoon will comprise three remote sessions that will inform, explore, and give the opportunity to discuss topical issues of intensive care medicine, the impact of intensive care on patients, and essential legal issues including capacity, shared decision-making, refusing treatment, and dying with dignity.

Our speakers and panellists will be experienced intensivists and court lawyers, who will guide you through this challenging, fascinating, essential area.

This event is a collaboration with The Faculty of Advocates.

