

Turas Training Portfolio Release Notes – Medical Foundation

02/02/2022

- Trainees no longer able to override date validation for Achievements

There was an issue that trainees were able to override date validation if they did not use the date picker functionality and manually entered the date which resulted in administrators/educators not being able to view the form. The date is required to be within the post/programme dates.

Trainee creates an Achievement form, and manually enters the date. The same date validation message now appears advising needs to be on or after the post start date.

New Achievement

i If you wish for a Course/Seminar to be counted towards your 'Additional Learning' please add this in the relevant Additional Learning Section. Any course or seminar added here will not be counted towards your Additional Learning.

- Medical Foundation: Completion certificates (post order update)

Update made to all Medical Foundation certificates to ensure posts appear in chronological date order (earliest post at the top and most recent at the bottom).

Once an administrator has created the required ARCP forms and a completion certificate is generated the posts now appear in chronological order as per below example:
