Online or on-demand

Sessions covered include:

- How do I manage...? Acute endocrinology presentations in patients with cancer
- Delivering oncology care in 2026 - endocrine and metabolic considerations
- Neuroendocrine tumours: advances in treatment and diagnostics
- How do I...? Oncology patients in the endocrine clinic
- John Hamilton Brown Lecture – Obesity and cancer risk: are Glucagon-like Peptide-1 (GLP1) agonists friends or foes?
- Keynote Speaker: Professor Donal O' Shea

This RCPE joint oncology-endocrinology symposium will review common endocrine and metabolic off-target effects of cancer treatments, consider how endocrine and metabolic disease can impact a cancer journey and review recent advances in the field of endocrine related cancer.

Benefit from a joint oncology–endocrinology perspective and learn from multidisciplinary expertise to improve patient outcomes.

Speakers: Dr Rachel Crowley, Dr Daniel Morganstein, Dr Alison May Berner, Professor Paul Newey, Professor Marie Fallon, Dr Nicola Zammit.

The symposium is open to acute and general physicians, oncologists, endocrinologists, specialist trainees, and internal medicine trainees.

Catch-up will be available to registered delegates for 28 days post event.
